INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY (MS)

The Master of Science in Instructional Design and Technology is designed for individuals in higher education, the private sector, government and/or nonprofit organizations who are seeking to design instruction and create learning environments in real-world contexts. Through applied research, the IDT program contributes to the improvement of instructional methodologies and the design and implementation of learning innovations.

General Graduate Admission Requirements

All applicants must meet the general admission requirements for Concordia University Chicago graduate programs as published in the Concordia University Chicago academic catalog (https://catalog.cuchicago.edu/graduate/graduate-admission-student-services/).

New students are accepted into most graduate degree-seeking, certificate, endorsement and/or post-graduate programs for online and on-campus study for in the fall, spring, or summer semesters. Students seeking to change programs may do so by submitting a Change-of-Program quick app (https://capp.cuchicago.edu/graduate/change-of-program/). Applicants must be in good academic standing according to Concordia University Chicago's satisfactory academic progress standards and meet published program admission requirements at the time of requesting a program change. Program changes will be processed and recorded for the subsequent semester.
